GEORGE O. BARNES.

God is Love and Nothing Else.

PRAISE THE LORD.

BARTOW, FLA., JAN. 17, 1889.

DEAR INTERIOR:—There is no crop in the world so accommodating as the orange. It hangs on from mid-November to the first of March, improving generally, all the time. The imperfectly matured fruit that is hurried into market to gain high prices is comparatively sour; easily injured in shipping; and altogether inferior to that gathered later. As I write, not more than half the current year's crop has been plucked and half the groves are still in full glory of "green and gold"—the combination of colors, that the world over, still most attract the eye and fill the aesthetic soul with a sense of restful harmony.

The orange clings to the parent stem with great tenacity, requiring quite an exertion of force to detach it. This constitutes a peril in plucking them for market. Frequently they are "plugged" in severing the tie by main force, which means that a small piece of the outer skin is rent away, leaving the fruit defenseless against speedy rot; or if not "plugged" and externally uninjured, the strain has ruptured the delicate inner tissues, by the lifting of the yellow rind, and again the process of decay is accelerated. To prevent this, either very gentle and skilful handling is required in gathering, or, what is coming into general use, clipping, the stem close to the orange. Many think that this will be demanded by dealers, soon, as a guarantee of careful handling, and sanguine growers think that the luscious fruit, judiciously manipulated, may just as well last two months, after plucking, as two weeks. Every step in the direction of prolonging the undecayed existence of this perishable and luxurious adjunct of our dinner tables, will be of public benefit. The orange is destined to be as common as the apple, when large production shall bring it within reach of the poorest.

Forty trees to the acre, or 33 feet apart, is the very best planting, though 50 and 60 are very commonly put in. The temptation is to crowd, here as elsewhere, and forget how trees grow.

Trees of three years are best, though "4-year-olds" are frequently planted. In five years from setting a small crop may be gathered from three-year-old plantings. Then on and on in rapidly increasing ratio, till at 15 years from the seed an average yield of 1,500 to 2,000 oranges to the tree rewards the happy cultivator.

The crop this year sold at 60 to 75 cts. on the tree, the purchaser gathering. At the lowest valuation, therefore, each 2,000 orange tree yields $12. Multiply this by 40 and you have $480 to the acre. An average of 1,000 oranges gives half that, or $240. Not a bad return. Suppose ten acres set out and carefully tended. The careful cultivator has an income of nearly $3,000, of which, after the first expenditures cease, that cluster thickest at the start, after the manner of this devil's world, nine-tenths will be net profit. This is a fine estimate of the "10th year's" income. That beats corn, hemp or tobacco, all hollow. The difference in labor to produce these respective crops is simply immense, and altogether in favor of the orange.

Wonderful is the tenacity of life in the orange, where soil and climate suit. It is almost impossible to kill it. You can transplant it at an age which would be fatal in another tree, and it will grow at an amazing rate, when reduced to a forlorn stump, with roots mutilated and not a leaf in sight. This morning I saw some magnificent trees that had been hacked out of the ground in the most butcherly style, and the entire top sawed off when seven years old. Only about two feet of the great tap-root was taken up. That was eight years ago. They produced 2,000 oranges this year and are simply superb trees, with symmetrical tops, a charming pyramid of deepest green foliage, where the gold of the orange delights to nestle.

There are many varieties of the "luscious fruit." Budding is common and all sorts of experiments in perfecting the orange are rife. But those who have moderate means and moderate desires stick to what is known as the "Sweet Seedling." Like the Concord among grapes, it is good enough for anybody. The great bulk of the Florida oranges—"Bright" and "Russet"—are from this standard variety.

A word as to "Russets." The "Bright" or clear yellow orange, and the Russets are most frequently found on the same tree. Various theories are broached to account for the once yellow specimens turning brown. Some think an insect does it. Only to-day a very experienced orange grower told me he repudiated the insect theory and attributed the change to subtle influences of sun and rain, coming in unknown conjunctions. The fact is, nobody knows the origin of the "russet" freak. But dismiss the idea of its being a "variety" of orange. It is no such thing. It seems, however, to concentrate the juices and sweeten the fruit, whatever the cause may be. I hear that some of the vendors of the orange smoke the yellow coats to supply to order, "russets," to a discerning public. They are the favorites just now.

Three-fourth of the fruit hanging on our hotel grove trees are "browns." I grieve to say that they are being picked to-day; and I fear, in a few days, our lovely "green and gold" will be all green. Well, we will "flit" before all are gone. We have enjoyed them with an intensity of pleasure that I can't describe.

Joy of joys! Our friends have arrived. They came over our route, and know the joys and sorrows of "Flo, Son," and "Son, Flo," as well as we. They are able to corroborate, with variations and additions, what I have previously written about those exasperating corporations. The particular form of their grievance takes the general direction of, baggage left behind in Gainesville; to come on, when "Son, Flo," or "Flo, Son," shall be propitious. At present the thing is in an acute stage, with clean underwear with the trunks, wherever they may be. A vigorous use of the wires is now going on to discover their whereabouts. Who can tell how glad we were to see our trio drive up, Tuesday night, at 11 o'clock? We expected them 24 hours before they came. They were very little fagged and a night's rest set them all up again. Of course they all became intoxicated next morning and are not quite sober yet; though we have been roaming among the groves, eating till we could eat no more, ever since their arrival. Innocent inebriation, of the ecstatic kind, in which all indulge on a first arrival in Florida. I am barely sober, after a two weeks' stay, and I am not sure that I shall not become a confirmed case and keep on admiring the orange groves of Florida, extravagantly, while life lasts.

Our mail, without which we are all bereft, has at last resumed its usual steady flow, and we are glad, as Jonah, of his gourd.

Your Lancaster correspondent sends his affectionate greetings and says he likes Florida, and is already wonderfully improved. You would think so if you could see him wading into citrus fruits, of sorts.

The meetings grow steadily in interest despite the usual opposition. Ah, me! To think that any can have the heart to oppose "God is Love and Nothing Else," and Jesus is "wounded in the house of His friends." That is the worst of it. We are all beautifully well, and Praise the dear Lord for it. Will and I preach alternately. What a crowning joy to my life, if only I can have my dear boy to preach with me, till Jesus comes!

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

Professor Brown Sequard has been making experiments to determine whether the human breath was capable of producing poisonous effects. From the condensed watery vapor of the expired air or breath, he obtained a poisonous liquid, which, when injected under the skin of rabbits, produced almost immediate death. The rabbits died without convulsion, the heart and large blood vessels being engorged with blood. This seems to show that human breath contains a volatile poisonous principle which is more deleterious than carbonic acid.

The Samoan Islands are a small cluster in the Pacific Ocean about midway between the Sandwich Islands and New Zealand on a line from San Francisco. According to treaty stipulations the American and several other nations are bound to protect the islands in the right to rule themselves. The English government has signified its intention to co-operate with the United States in putting a stop to German aggression in Samoa if international law and treaty stipulations have been violated, and this may bring Germany to time in double-quick order and stop the war, which if the half is told, our government is bound to wage. Several men-of-war have been dispatched to the scene, but it will take six weeks for them to reach the islands. The matter is being thoroughly investigated by the war department and if it be found that the Germans have mistreated the Americans there and torn down and burned our flag as reported, very decisive measures will be resorted to. Secretary Bayard has a chance to send the administration out in a blaze of glory, and we trust he will be equal to the occasion. Gov. McCreary, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, believes there is but little danger of war, as he thinks the German government after investigation will make all necessary apologies and indemnities.

FOURTEEN MILLION seems to be the favorite number of petitioners when you want Congress to do something. Senator Blair's Sunday Vest bill has that number and so did the W. C. T. U's. The bill will require everybody, railroads, newspapers, etc., to shut up shop willy nilly. The right of petition has always been recognized in our government, but the average petition isn't worth shucks. Many sign it without knowing what it is for, others to be obliging and still others to save the bother of an argument. A man should attach his name to one with the same hesitancy that he does to another's note, which he may have to pay, but unfortunately but few do. Believing the Bible when it says that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath, we regard Blair's bill as we do most of his other conceptions, as the invention of a Pharisaical fanatic and crank.

THERE is nothing on earth equal to the watchful and tender care in sickness or accident of a devoted wife for the husband she loves. But it must be a sore trial for a wife to minister to the wants of a husband, whose misfortunes have come to him by reason of his falsity to her. The case of Virgil Wright, the Louisville merchant, who was shot by his mistress, and who has since hovered between life and death, is one in point. With a pretty wife, three healthy children and an apparently happy home, he wandered off after a woman of the town and she finally shot him almost to death when he didn't do exactly to suit her. If Mrs. Wright had filled the place of a loving wife during his anguish, she is better than human and fully entitled to the poet's eulogium of "a ministering angel."

THE Cincinnati Commercial makes the startling admission that democratic members of Congress are more reverential and respectful during the morning prayer than the republicans, who spend the time puffing cigars and examining their correspondence. The democrats nearly all rise and stand with bowed heads. The paper adds that the latter probably know they stand so much more in need of prayer and that the praying is mostly intended for them, that they are bound to be attentive. The real reason lies in the fact that the democrats are religiously raised gentlemen and always treat such matters with reverence and decorum.

Owing to an irregularity in the return of the Texas electoral vote, caused by the electors failing to sign their names on the envelope containing the result, Ingalls refused to receive it and the Lone Star State may be cut out entirely in the final count. But it doesn't matter much, further than it shows very remarkable stupidity on the part of the electors. If the New York electors and those in Indiana were to make such a mistake there might be some fun, but Texas counts on the wrong side of the balance sheet.

IT is given as a dead sure tip that Senator Allison has been tendered the treasury portfolio and that he will accept it. Blaine will have the first position so this settles two of the cabinet. But what's the use of the newspapers tearing their shirts about the matter? Harrison can't keep the secret more than 38 days longer and we for one can stand to wait.

THE Louisville school board decided 14 to 10 to abolish the teaching of German in the public schools after the expiration of the present session, and all the newspapers, save the Anzeiger, are happy. The board is heels over head in debt and this lop-off will save $30,000 a year.

THE Atlanta Constitution went to the useless trouble and expense of sending one of its editors away up to Columbus, O., to interview Little Breeches Forker on the Southern question. He was quite glib with his tongue and said among other things that the only trouble is that the negro vote is suppressed in the South. But, until the trouble is removed, he says there can be neither peace nor prosperity—neither union nor brotherhood. If the shot gun policy of suppression is not used then charges of crime are trumped up against the negro and he is shut up in jail till after the election. Commenting on this the paper says: "The trouble is, the negro vote is suppressed in Governor Forker's mind, and not in the South. The cure, therefore, lies with him and not with us. There was not a negro in the State of Georgia who did not vote in November as freely as Governor Forker did. He and his friends prefer to believe that the Southern whites are villains, the juries forsworn, the judges perjured and the whole system of law pernicious and oppressive. If he would only understand that the Southern whites are as honorable as the whites of the North—or even approximately so—he would very soon see light breaking through the clouds that now envelop him."

COL. PHILLIPS, of the Lebanon Standard, who has been carrying on a newspaper war with Col. Colgan, of the Pineville Messenger, has decided to give the public a rest by seeing if the editor-poet means business. In other words he has challenged him to mortal combat and the challenge is as follows: "We propose to Lieut.-Col. Colgan through these writings, which will be handed him by our friend, the Postmaster at Pineville, that we will throw rocks with him to a finish at a distance of 900 yards, the lieutenant-colonel standing in front of the Pineville Hotel and his antagonist in front of the nearest house thereto." Now is Colgan's chance to become the David of his day, by slaying the red-headed Goliath, who has slandered his "city."

ARRANGEMENTS for a fitting celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of Gen. Washington as President of the United States are being made and the day promises to be a memorable one. It will occur April 30th and it has been arranged that the church bells all over the country shall ring to celebrate the event of one hundred years ago, when the church bells throughout the thirteen states rang out to call the people together to pray for the success and prosperity of the country under the administration of him, who was "first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

THE Senate tariff bill, concocted by the republicans to benefit the monopolists and pull the wool over the eyes of the ordinary tax-payer, passed that body Tuesday night by a strict party vote—32 to 30. There has been much time and much wind spent on the bill, but it will not become a law even if by any possible chance, not probable, enough democrats could be found in the House to give the republicans a majority, for Honest Grover Cleveland stands ready to throttle it with his veto and thus protect the cause of the people.

THE chairman of the Executive Committee of the Kentucky Press Association, Mr. Urey Woodson, announces in the Owensboro Messenger that the next meeting will convene the first Tuesday in June, and hints at a most attractive programme, which will be shortly announced. Mr. Woodson worked hard to have his city chosen as the place for the meeting and he is leaving nothing undone to make it one that the editors will always remember.

THE dead-lock in the West Virginia Senate was broken on the 124th ballot by the election of R. S. Carr president, a decided victory for the democrats and is a dead settler of the fraudulent claims of the opposition. The republicans no longer hoping to steal the governorship for Goff have nominated him for U. S. Senator, but a democrat will be elected. There is considerable opposition to Kenia, but this will probably subside and he will be re-elected.

THE Pullman Palace Car Co., has gobbled up the Mann Bondoir and the Woodruff Sleeping Car companies and now has a monopoly in the business. It is to be hoped, however, that it will not put up lodging higher than $2 a night, though if it has the inclination the people who patronize them will have to dance to the music.

AN interviewer asked Blaine, "Will you be our next Secretary of State?" who responded, "That question can be better answered at Indianapolis." The plumed knight is entirely too modest. He knows that all he has to do is to fiddle and his man Harrison will dance.

IF Fairchild keeps on he may have the N. Y. Custom House manned by democrats by the time they will all have to walk the plank. An administration which has waited four years to turn the rascals out hardly deserves more than it got.

A YOUNG fellow in Fleming county drank three pints of a strong decoction of wild cherry bark to cure his consumption. In a few hours his cough was entirely stopped; likewise his breath. Death had done its work.

JUDGE MONFORT at Frankfort has decided in the Tate suits that the State cannot recover on the bonds of 1884 and '86, on the ground that a final settlement with the treasurer by the proper officers relinquishes the State's claim to liability on the sureties for those years. This only leaves the years of 1882 and '83 to be disposed of and they will probably go out the same way when the case comes up next month. We fear it will be a very diminutive sum that the State will realize from the huge steal of "Honest Dick Tate," who should have had the word "thief" branded on his forehead, instead of being allowed to wear such an appellation.

LT. GOV. BRYAN, who is acting governor or while the old man goes after his young wife, who is visiting her former home in Richmond, Va., has signed the death warrant of Monroe Wilkerson, for killing Berry Marion, another negro, who asked him to behave himself in a more orderly manner, at a church at Scottsville. The date of the execution is Mar. 23d. It was the first paper of the kind the young "governor" ever signed, but it is to be hoped it is not his last if the cases come up. There are enough murderers in the State, who ought to be hung, to keep him signing several days.

THE Minnesota Legislature has postponed the election of a U. S. Senator, to investigate the charges of bribery against the republican candidates, Sabin and Washburn, and the news comes that possibly the honest republicans will unite with the democrats and elect a man upon whose skirts there is no suspicion of fraud. It is said that some of the members were offered government positions, others $1,000 and so on by both Sabin and Washburn. LATER. The latter was elected.

NO LADIES, the Hull, who is manipulating a pig iron combine in Louisville, is not the amicable and popular Col. W. M. Hull, who writes "In and About Kentucky" in the Courier-Journal. The colonel does not know pig iron from any other kind of pig and of combines or any other wickedness he is as innocent as a spring lamb. When not wielding his facile pen he puts in his spare time studying for the ministry, one would judge from his writings.

THE negroes all over the country who have heard of Mahone's interview are intensely indignant and at Atlanta they have gotten up a monster petition asking Harrison to keep him out of his cabinet. Some of the more radical white republicans are also very much wrought up over the utterances.

WANAMAKER, who gave many thousands to bribe voters for Harrison while he pays his sewing women only 15 cents a day, is evidently in for P. M. General or Secretary of the Navy. He was in Indianapolis Wednesday and that is what is telegraphed from there.

ONE Congress and 26 legislatures are making laws for the people. Let us be unfeignedly thankful that Kentucky is among the list of the few states that are spared the infliction. Ours does not convene, P. T. L., till the last week in 1889.

THE News promises "Sweet Owen" to James G. Givens for lieutenant governor. As the county is nearly solidly democratic, "our candidate" has a pretty good start in the race, if he decides to make it.

MARRIAGE has certainly not proved a failure—to multiply and replenish the earth in the case of a couple living in Bracken county. They are just celebrating the arrival of their 20th son.

THERE are now 17 prisoners in the jail, the largest number for years. A few months after prohibition had set in Jailer Owens had not a boarder and now the jail is crowded. A few of the most rabid predicted that there would be no use for a jail after prohibition had been in effect a year or so, but we are sorry to say that they can't claim such a victory as they had once hoped.

We don't say it to flatter him, but the editor is the most awkward man on crutches that ever tried that means of assisting locomotion. While practicing on them in his room Wednesday, he fell backwards and struck the floor squarely on his recently broken thigh, strange to say, without breaking it over. The fall has made him very sore and will add several days to his "imprisonment," which have now reached 38.

We would consider ourselves absolutely devoid of appreciation should we fail to mention a delightful serenade tendered us on Wednesday night by a half dozen of Stanford's prettiest girls, accompanied by as many of her most gallant young men. No instruments were used and the music, exclusively vocal, was both beautiful and operatic. May these excellent young people, whose missions here seem to be the making happy of other people, live to ripe old ages and during their voyage over life's titful sea make many more hearts as bright and happy as they did ours.

If the good ladies who send out letters asking the recipient to forward 10 cents for the cause they represent and requesting him to make two copies of the letter and send them to others, would have the letter printed and enclose three copies of it to every individual, it would be a much better scheme. The average busy business man cares nothing for the 10 cents, but he would rather pay a dollar than to copy the letter twice. The saving of postage would soon pay for the printing and a contributor would have only to direct three envelopes, instead of write ten minutes or more.

NOTICING our paragraph which stated that a doctor had insisted on the council having the pavement in front of the college here fixed, because it is making the girls bow-legged and twist-ankled, the News remarks that there are pavements in Paris that make its girls pigeon-toed and bandy-shanked and the Sun that Winchester has a few which are causing its girls to become "double-jointed" and knock-kneed. With her limbs, which would otherwise be as beautiful as a dream, contorted and misshapen, the coming blue-grass belle will not be able to carry a light for her magnificent formed sister of to-day.

THAT the minds of would-be musicians as well as those of great men run in the same channel is evinced in the fact that they all for a period seem to go wild over the same song. For the present "Just a Little Sunshine" has the run and we do not exaggerate when we say that fully half of the people we meet in our peregrinations for that scarce and coveted article termed "news" are either singing, humming or whistling the above ballad. We are particularly fond of music and rather enjoy listening to our musical friends enjoy themselves, but there is nothing like a change of programme and we hint as a suggestion that "Home, Sweet Home" or something of the kind take the place of "Just a Little Sunshine" occasionally and especially on Sundays when anything pertaining to sunshine is away out of order.

ALTHOUGH his prediction failed to come to pass in regard to an ice harvest during Christmas, Mr. John G. Smith, is not disheartened but comes again to the front and says he "thinks" the ice-men may prepare themselves to fill their houses between the 26th and 29th of this month.

THE deacons of the Methodist church desire us to say to the young people who talked during the entire sermon on Wednesday night, that should they again be guilty, their names will be called out in church and a severe reproof given them. We are indeed sorry to mention this and sincerely hope there will be no repetition of the offense, which no doubt was thoughtlessly committed.

SHE LOVED to RIDE.—Wednesday's train from the mountains brought an old couple who from their appearance were evidently from the backwoods. With them was a little girl who had become so charmed with her first ride on the train that it was almost an impossibility to get her off. She cried and begged to be permitted to again get on, but the attention of her parents was entirely taken up in looking on a city for their first time and her pleading failed to reach their ears, so the train moved on leaving the little one in sore distress.

A CRAB ORCHARD friend sends us the following which we give verbatim et literatim. If not particularly interesting it may prove worthy of its space by acting as a word of warning to those who do not adhere strictly to the desires of the heads of the household while attending parties or the like: "On Monday night Mr. G. W. Spangler gave a play party to his fellow citizens and Friends of this community, and by Seven o'clock his rooms was well crowded but when the fun was to commence he would not let them dance or play nothing but thimble and he objected to any play that had singing in it and after a while they got tired of sitting and doing nothing and they all got in to a little game of play singing (I measure my love to show you) When the old man came to the door and measured his love with his foot by kicking the door off of the hinges and of course that caused a panic among the young ladies and some jumped out of the window while others even run off and left their over shoes."

ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER ONE WOUNDED.—Daniel O'Mally's through freight was switching at Pittsburg Tuesday and two of his brakemen, Joe Prewitt and Jim Raines, were joking each other while they were passing over the box cars attending to their duties, when Tom Stringer and Sam Gragg, two characters noted for their meanness, pretended that they believed Prewitt and Raines intended their jocular remarks for them. After Raines had informed them in a gentlemanly manner that they were talking among themselves about themselves, Stringer, desirous of raising a disturbance, drew his pistol and cursed them and finally commenced shooting at them. Young Raines, who had a pistol in his pocket and who had considerable trouble in getting it out, was unable to defend himself until Stringer had shot a number of times, and Prewitt, who was unarmed, climbed from the box car to the caboose thus leaving Raines to fight the battle alone. A number of shots were fired, one ball from Raines' pistol taking effect in Gragg's shoulder and ranging downward, struck the heart, killing him instantly and one from Stringer hitting Raines in the hip, making a painful wound. Gragg, who was with Stringer, it is thought, fired not a single shot and no pistol was found on him when he was picked up from where he fell, but he urged Stringer to continue firing and no doubt would have assisted him had he been armed. Raines was taken to London, where his wound was dressed and afterwards brought to his father's near this place. Stringer has not yet been arrested. When Mr. O'Mally's train returned about 10 o'clock Tuesday night a squad of men with shot guns and Winchester rifles surrounded the depot, intending no doubt to take Raines off and kill him, but the train failed to stop and no further damage was done. The Stringers have declared vengeance on Raines and being of revengeful natures they will no doubt carry out their threats. Gragg, who was killed, lived for many years in this county and made himself notorious by participating in numerous robberies and thefts enacted at and near McKinney, and only a few years ago he with his brother killed a negro, for which he failed to get his just deserts. Stringer is considered a dangerous man, and is related to the Stringer who was a pal of Gragg while he lived in this county. It was rumored that Stringer and other friends of Gragg started to Rowland to take Raines out and hang him, but the report was either untrue or their hearts failed them before their journey's end was reached.

COATS' Minstrels, which contracted to play here next Tuesday night, have evidently stranded, as we have heard nothing from them recently. If it is that kind of a show we are glad it went to pieces before it got here.

B. K. WEAREN, the undertaker, has on exhibition at his place of business an indestructible burial casket that certainly deserves the name applied to it. It is ingeniously constructed of terra cotta and wire cloth, so as to absolutely prevent separation, decay or penetration. Long-Standing Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alternative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a rapid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured."—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. Tyson, (of Ferdinand, Fla.) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. I did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

We Haven't Got Here Yet.

J. G. Pulliam, of the Harrodsburg Sayings and Doings, who was with us at the same time, thus writes of a printer, who will be remembered here for his civil qualities: "Eight years ago June Elliot was a journeyman printer on the INTERIOR JOURNAL at Stanford. One morning coming up after a 'lark' he was too enthused to prosper. After spending a half hour in setting one line, in attempting to justify it he 'pied' it. Being a young man of large ideas and limited experience, after the line toppled over he immediately expressed a determination to circumnavigate the globe, promising to turn up in Stanford in eight years a wiser if not a better man. He started with a pig but not a cent in his pocket, and was first heard from in Liverpool, Rome and then came a letter from the base of one of the pyramids. He sent from Calcutta an English journal on which he was working, and afterwards went on to Japan. He next turned up at Sidney, in Australia, and a year afterwards showed up in San Francisco. Thence he has wended his way eastward and this week paid us a visit. He left here Tuesday for Stanford, by pike, and by this time no doubt is again slinging type in the JOURNAL office."

HUBBLE.—Joel Walker & Hubble have sold 2 car-loads of mules to a Tennessee man for $108 per head. S. Hubble has returned from the South, after selling 2 car-loads of mules, and reports good times in the mule trade. B. F. Engleman is aiming to look cool at his house next summer, whether he has ice or not, as he has bought a refrigerator and is building an ice-house. Mrs. Joel Walker sold 40 dozen eggs last week and part of the week was unfavorable. Eubanks Bros. have bought Hubble's half interest in the horse Brignolia for $175. James Cox & Englemon are about ready to ship the remainder of their tobacco. Billy Sullivan has bought all the wool in this country for 25c, clipped. Virgil McClure of Lexington, was over last week in the interest of the Transylvania Printing Co. Wm. Hubble sold 5 shares First National Bank stock at Stanford for $105 per share to James Robinson.

We would call the attention of all physicians to the following provisions of the law as passed by the last legislature. It will be well for them all to paste this in their hats and go strictly by its provision to save after consequences. Here it is:

On and after the first day of April, 1889, it shall be unlawful for any person to practice medicine in any of the branches within the limits of this State who has not registered in the county clerk's office of the county where he is practicing or intends to practice medicine. His authority shall be a diploma from a chartered medical college. Any person violating this law shall be fined $50 for the first offense, on conviction, and $100 and 30 days in jail for each subsequent offense and conviction.

Tobacco Growers' Convention.

To the tobacco growers of the white Burley tobacco producing district: Believing that the interest manifested by the county meetings recently held in a number of tobacco producing counties justify us in calling a general meeting, we take the liberty of naming Monday, February 4th, 1889, as the day, and Lexington, Ky., as the most accessible place, for said general meeting. See that your county is represented. The above time and place have been approved by the action and words of interested parties in Owen, Pendleton, Bourbon, Gallatin, Fleming and other counties.

DANVILLE.—Walter Harlan died Monday, Jan. 14, of congestion of the brain, at the home of his parents, Jas. and Lettie Harlan. W. P. Givens sold Monday to John Twiney 4 head nice yearling cotton mules for $1,070. Sheriff Bailey sold a frame dwelling of H. C. Farris, at Junction City. The property was sold under execution and bought by C. L. Nevison for $430. The mule market at Atlanta is from $5 to $10 per head lower than last season and not higher, as stated in the last issue. G. A. Swinebroad bought on Monday 11 scrub cattle at $2.30. Ten shares Citizens National sold at $175.50 to $181, and 5 Boyle National at $195.—Advocate.

Doctor—My poor man! You seem to be in a sad condition, indeed. What is your trouble?

Cadaverous Individual—Difficulty in swallowing.

Doctor—Does it seem to be due to constriction of the throat?

Cadaverous Individual—No; it's due to not having anything to swallow.—Burlington Free Press.

"Can you tell me," inquired an anxious looking man of a bank cashier, "is there any way of disposing of plugged nickels?" "Certainly," replied the cashier, facetiously. "You can drop them into the contribution box at church. Any deacon will take them. He cannot well help himself." "Yes, sir," said the anxious-looking man. "I know that. I'm a church deacon. I have half a bushel of them I would like to dispose of."

"Say, Mr. Quag," asked Bromley, "is this a good five-dollar gold piece?" Lawyer Quag examined it, said yes, pocketed the gold piece and handed Bromley two silver dollars. "I didn't want it changed," declared Bromley. "Besides you have retained three dollars." "Yes," grinned Lawyer Quag, "for giving you my opinion."

Politics on the Bench.

Relative to Judge Brown's instruction to the U. S. grand jury at Indianapolis to find no indictment against Dudley for bribing voters, as suggested in his "blocks-of-five" letter, the Louisville Times has the following:

When the Bardotown bar was the ablest in the West, a litigious old farmer was a party to a most vexatious lawsuit, upon the trial of which he lost the case. A sympathizing friend asked him who represented him in court and the answer was: "Charles A. Wickliffe and Ben Chapeze." "Who was on the other side?" again asked the friend. "Old Ben Harkin and the judge, d—n him," was the reply. When "Sim Coy" was prosecuted for a little election bribery, Judge Wood, of the United States District Court of Indiana, was opposed to him, and Sim Coy was in the penitentiary. When William Wade Dudley was under investigation for a heap of election bribery, that same judge was on the side of Dudley, who is free to come hither and go hence without day, though he is one of the most notorious of criminals. As the Indianapolis Sentinel well says: "Thrice, thrice is he armed who has the judge on his side." Politics on the bench is worse than corruption in legislative halls, worse than hypocrisy in the pulpit, worse than dishonesty in the counting-room. Perhaps Blaine was right after all when he intimated that there was no justice in Indiana.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CATARRH.—Many persons in this climate afflicted with catarrh and bronchitis have not the money to pay a physician. Let them try this simple, harmless home treatment and if faithfully followed it will afford relief or effectual cure: Take a common pitcher holding two quarts or more, heat it thoroughly, and fill three-quarters full with steaming, boiling water; add instantly a teaspoonful of oil of tar; then inhale the steam through the nostrils and exhale through the mouth; put the nose well into the mouth of the pitcher and take a deep, full inhalation, letting the air pass out through a very small opening in the lips. Continue this ten or twenty minutes at a time two or three times daily. Drink a cupful of hot water after each treatment, also a quarter or half hour before breakfast. Physicians often charge $3 or $5 a visit for a treatment not as effectual as the above.

A NEW GAME FOR CHURCH FAIRS.—"Changing the leopard spots" is the newest scheme in church fairs. The minister stretches a large piece of white cloth across one end of the room. On it is drawn in charcoal a representation of a leopard, with its mouth open and its tail trailing on the ground. About forty pieces of circular black cloth a couple of inches in diameter are fastened all over the leopard with pins. "Can the leopard change his spots?" says the preacher, repeating the Biblical question. It can by a simple process. Each one in the congregation pays $1 and buys a spot until the leopard resembles a white calf. Then the game is repeated until everybody, including the leopard, is perfectly satisfied with the result.—Chicago Herald.

The Midway Clipper says: Whether or not the amount of drinking of liquor has been lessened, high license has been a great benefit to Midway. Six years ago when the license tax was $50, we had 7 saloons, and the majority of them were veritable dens of iniquity. When the tax was increased to $150 the number was reduced to four, and at present with the license at $500 we have but two, and they are as well kept and as reputable as such places can be.

Texas has its own idea of the marriage ceremony. Judge Pruitt, of Centerville, recently performed a marriage ceremony, which was in substance as follows: "Do you and each of you solemnly swear that you are in earnest about this business, and that you will stand by each other as husband and wife through thick and thin, sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish?" Both parties nodding their assent, they were pronounced man and wife.

HOW AN AMERICAN HAS FUN.—The toboggan slide at Tuxedo will be in good condition in a day or two if this weather holds.

A toboggan slide affords the grandest, the most exciting and the most laborious as well as hilarious sport in the world.

You get on your sled, start, wink three times, and then walk a mile up hill.

This is a rapid age.—New York Herald.

Attorney for Defense (to man drawn as a juror)—"Permit me to ask you, Mr. Jumbo, if you have conscientious scruples against capital punishment?" Juror—"Hey?" Attorney—"Are you opposed, on principle, to the execution of condemned criminals?" Juror—"Huh?" Attorney (hastily)—"We'll take this man your honor."

NOT POSTED.—Philadelphia (in St. Louis).—"Will you kindly tell me I can get a drink of water?" Policeman—"Mein frent, I haff been only three months on dis beat."—Philadelphia Record.

Brockton, Mass., last year turned out on an average about 45 pairs of shoes per minute for 300 days of 10 hours each.

Best of All

Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Bonne, La.

I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy.

For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief, and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and robust as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

PUBLIC SALE,

OF

VALUABLE COAL AND TIMBERLANDS

ON

Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1889,

at 10 o'clock, A. M. at the town of

will be sold to the highest bidder, at public auction, about 900 acres of Coal and Timber Lands. This is one of the most valuable tracts of all the lands in this region, so celebrated for its coal and timber. The lands surrounding it are now being worked, and the product finds a fine market being on the line of the Knoxville Branch of the L. and N. railroad, and in direct connection with the city of Louisville where a large part of the output is disposed of. The lowest estimate made is $100,000 for the coal and timber on the tract, with plenty of fine timber for mining purposes. Part of this land is now being worked and produces a coal of very superior quality, which commands ready sale and good returns.

This sale offers a fine opportunity to parties looking after investment for the future or desiring to develop the land at once. Pittsburgh is immediately off the line of the Knoxville Branch of the L. and N. R. R., and about midway between Louisville and Knoxville, and has for many years been an important coal-producing district.

Parties desiring to inspect the land before day of sale can do so by applying either to Geo. Givens or Wm. McNeil, at Pittsburgh.

Sale positive and made to close a partnership. TERMS.—One-third cash in hand, balance in equal payments of 12 and 18 months from day of sale. Purchaser to execute bond with good security, bearing 6 per cent. interest from day of sale; lien also retained for deferred payments.
